OPPOSITION AND OBSTRUCTION WORK OF THE LAWS.

The Senate Could Scarcely Vote the Meaning of Monday—One Paper Gives Information to Senate from the Government Not Paying the Senate Employes Salaries and Some Other Important Appointments—Other Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3.—Both Houses of Congress did useful work to-day for the purpose of passing up their offer bills requiring action by the President. The general appropriation bills, the pension bill, the bill providing for the payment of the Choctaw claims, and the Senate amendments to the Oklahoma bill providing for the organization of the Panama exhibition were disposed of, and the Senate and House conferees on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill agreed upon the items in dispute between the two Houses. The Senate conferees on the sundry civil bill, however, failed to agree, and the bill was sent back to conference. The other bills which were disposed of were unimportant, and the day's work was not such as to attract general attention.

The Senate was not in session long enough to-day to transact much business. It met at 11 o'clock, and at 12:30 p. m. it took a recess until 8 o'clock this evening. The time was occupied in the consideration of the Oklahoma bill, which was finally passed, and in the consideration of the bill providing for the payment of the Choctaw claims, which was also passed. The Senate at 5:15 p. m. took a recess until 8 o'clock, when it will be again in session, and will sit for the purpose of considering the bill to prevent the desecration of the Sabbath in the District of Columbia. The House was in session from 11 o'clock a. m. until 5:30 p. m., when it took a recess until 8 o'clock this evening. The time was occupied in the consideration of the bill providing for the payment of the Choctaw claims, which was passed, and in the consideration of the bill providing for the payment of the Choctaw and Chickasaw claims, which was also passed. The House also passed the bill providing for the organization of the Panama exhibition, and the bill providing for the payment of the Cherokee claims. The Senate bill providing for the payment of the Choctaw claims provides that the Court of Claims shall determine the amount due the Choctaw Nation on account of the Choctaw and Chickasaw treaty of 1866, and that the amount found due shall be paid to the Choctaw Nation. The Senate bill providing for the organization of the Panama exhibition provides that the exhibition shall be held in the city of Washington, and that the President shall appoint a commissioner general, who shall have charge of the exhibition, and who shall receive a salary of $5,000 per annum. The House bill providing for the payment of the Cherokee claims provides that the amount found due shall be paid to the Cherokee Nation.

The Senate bill providing for the payment of Choctaw claims was passed by the House with an amendment providing that the amount found due shall be paid to the Choctaw Nation. The Senate refused to concur in the House amendment, and a conference was asked for. The House agreed to the conference, and appointed as conferees Messrs. Cox, Outhwaite and Hemphill. The Senate conferees have not yet been appointed.

The Senate conferees on the sundry civil bill are Messrs. Allison, Sherman and Harris. The House conferees are Messrs. Holman, Cannon and Bayne. The conferees on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill are Messrs. Allison, Sherman and Harris, on the part of the Senate, and Messrs. Holman, Cannon and Bayne, on the part of the House. The conferees on the general appropriation bill are Messrs. Allison, Sherman and Harris, on the part of the Senate, and Messrs. Holman, Cannon and Bayne, on the part of the House.

The Senate bill providing for the payment of the Choctaw claims was passed by the House with an amendment providing that the amount found due shall be paid to the Choctaw Nation. The Senate refused to concur in the House amendment, and a conference was asked for. The House agreed to the conference, and appointed as conferees Messrs. Cox, Outhwaite and Hemphill. The Senate conferees have not yet been appointed.

MONDAY, MARCH 4, 1889.

The New York World is intensely under the delusion that the Democrats carried New York at the last election and that the Democratic vote of the State was given to Harrison only because 5,000 Democrats bolted Cleveland for personal reasons. This is not a true statement of the case. The Republicans carried the State, and did so easily enough to obtain 15,000 or 17,000 decent Republicans ballot Miller on the high license and temperance issue and voted for its support. The most supreme enemy of the saloon, by whatever ballot he may cast, will justify this statement. If only Democratic votes for Harrison it was only because they believed in Republican principles and desired to act with the party in the Nation. On a straight issue between the two parties, leaving out the Prohibition ones, New York is a Republican State.

At noon today the four years' interregnum will be over. The Republican party will resume power, and the country will be quick to recognize the fact and will not soon repent in the years before us the blunder of 1884. The nightmare of Democracy is on the point of vanishing. The dead weight that has been upon our statesmen for the last four years will be thrown off this day at noon. The Republicans have increased through the wilderness and have reached the verge of the Promised Land. The sun rises earlier today than to-day and sooner, for he has a brighter prospect to look upon. When he sets tonight he will set upon, for he will have ushered away with regret from a land which is under Republican rule. We will now begin an era in which the authority vested of the last years that is before us years of having our opponents and legislators and representatives with encouragement and Confederates and will look forward confidently to that era of better things which will begin at high noon today. That the Nation will place the control of its future destinies in the hands of its greatest and best party, with a confidence that the coming years will be an glorious as the first quarter of a century which followed 1861.

The dynamic heel does of Chicago do not their daily contributions to the civilization of the United States. They are willing to make this matter the issue under another flag if it is found to be so. They have sought to make great the Garage door to Canadian travel by Chicago workers by enslaving the citizenship of the Dominion. Chicago Council heel. The offer has been gratefully accepted by the Londoners of Montreal, who, under the new arrangements, are paying seven cents a head, for last winter seventeen and three-fifths cents. This date out of business of the part of the Chicago Council heel gave the control to the voters of the Montreal Soldiers, and they do not take it in good part. They are to a on account of the low profits of the latter guild of workers. Therefore they have asked the Canadian Parliament to allow such a duty on American shoes as shall drive the workingmen of Montreal back to the arms of the protected Canadian boot builders. It is hardly possible that the Parliament will do this, but if it does it will make another experiment in favor of commercial union. The shoemakers of Canada, who for centuries have the business, will begin to ask why they should pay more for their boot than their daughters in the "States" are paying, merely that our class of workmen shall be provided in order to their protection. Commercial union will appeal to the shoemakers of the Dominion, and when that important organ is right with the Canadian people the whole country will soon be under control. Then Mayor Canada will be after it sweet as it can be called all this and more. It has been a brilliant prospect to look upon. When he sets tonight he will set upon, for he will have ushered away with regret from a land which is under Republican rule. We will now begin an era in which the authority vested of the last years that is before us years of having our opponents and legislators and representatives with encouragement and Confederates and will look forward confidently to that era of better things which will begin at high noon today. That the Nation will place the control of its future destinies in the hands of its greatest and best party, with a confidence that the coming years will be as

Spring Wraps, Jackets, Newmarkets, and Beaded Garments

Will be placed on sale TODAY. The above includes MANY ADVANCED STYLES IN IMPORTED NOVELTIES not to be found elsewhere.

LAST CALL

On the balance of our Fall and Winter Goods at PRICES CUT to ONE-THIRD former prices. Cloth Newmarkets $5, reduced from $15; $25 Newmarkets reduced to $8; $30 Plush Wraps, to close at once, $10; the cheapest Plush Sacque, considering the value, ever sold in America, $25; rich Imported Wraps, Suits, and Long Garments, former prices $75 to $150, now $25, $35, and $50.

Many of these goods are more suitable to wear in this climate for the next two or three months than the lighter spring weights, while the prices are merely nominal. But we must have the room. Besides, it is our policy never to carry anything over into the next year, always opening each season with a new and fresh stock.
